a Mulatto man called NATT COOK, about 6 feet high, between 35 and 40 years of age, long hair which he wears tied, a lock of rabbit hair on the front of his head, a little to the left, a cooper by trade; he has several scars on his arms and wrists, a scar on his back occasioned by a fald, and several marks from a whip; he is very fond of drink and gambling; he took with him a variety of clothes and some cooper's tools. He crossed the Potomac at Georgetown a few days since, and will probably make for Baltimore, as he has been very anxious for some time past to go to sea. I will give the above reward for securing said fellow in any jail, so that I get him again, or thirty dollars, with reasonable charges if brought home. All masters of #### Late Foreign Intelligence.

BOSTON, July 20.

FROM ENGLAND.

Yesterday arrived the ship Montezuma, capt. Isaacs, from London. We received papers to the 5th ult. but we are necessitated to be brief in mentioning their contents.

The King of Great Britain had been again indisposed, but had in a great degree recovered. A Cabinet examination of his Majesty's Physicians took place on the 2d; and it was rumoured that some important arrangement would be made in consequence.

On the 5th of June Mr. Pitt was to offer to the House of Commons his new plan for the defence of his country.

Shipping had been engaged in England for a foreign expedition.

Mr. Livingston, the American Minister to the French, is in England in pursuit of some agricultural information it is said in some of the papers, in others it is conjectured that his object is to negotiate a loan for the purchase of the Floridas. Mr.
Fox, and many of the British nobility, have been particularly attentive to him; and some of the London editors have expressed an astonishment at these attentions, considering his conduct with respect to the late "conspiracy."

On the 30th of May, Mr. Wilberforce moved in the House of Commons for leave to bring in a bill for the total abolition of the slave trade; which he obtained by a majority of 75 of 173 votes.

W. Cobbett (Porcupine) has been convicted of publishing a libel on the Government of Ireland.

The Emperor of Russia has publicly approved of the conduct of his late Envoy at Paris, between whom and the Consular Government it has been understood some misunderstanding took place. The Emperor has besides presented to the Diet of Ratisbon a note on the subject of the violation of the German Territory by the seizure of the Duke of Enghien, in which he expresses his sorrow at that event, and his surprise that France, under existing circumstances, should have authorised such procedure. The Envoy of Sweden presented a note on the same subject. The Emperor of Russia, wished for an application to be made on the part of the Empire to the French Government for a satisfactory explanation. He had already instructed his charge des affaires at Paris on the subject. The consideration of the subject was deferred by the Diet for 6 weeks. There are various accounts of the movements of troops.

The French funds had fallen, owing to reports of a misunderstanding with Russia; and the unwillingness of Prussia to give up Embsen!

On the 20th of May the French Senate waited on Bonaparte and requested his acceptance of the title of Emperor, &c.— They addressed him with the appellation "Your Imperial Majesty." He, of course complied with the request. They then waited on Madame Bonaparte, to whom they addressed the same title. Their discourse to her contained this sentence, your "disposition presages that the name of the EMPERESS JOSEPHINA, will be the signal of consolation and of hope." &c.

Five members of the Senate, it is said, were against giving the First Consul a new title, &c. Sieyes, Lanjuinais and Gregoire were among these.

The French Legislative Body is to continue 5 (or 10) years, the Tribunate 10.
The latter to be blended with the Legislature, and called a Chamber of Orators.

Ministers Plenipotentiary are to have the appellation of "their Excellencies."

His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of the Gauls has appointed as Marshalls of the Empire; Berthier Marat, Moncey, Jourdan, Massena, Augereau, Bernadotte, Soult, Brune, Lannes, Mortier, Ney, Devost, Bessieres, Kellerman, Lefebvre, Petignion and Serrurier.

The following vote is to be submitted to the French subjects. "The French people will the Imperial Dignity to be hereditary in the direct, natural, legal and adopted descent of Napoleon Bonaparte, in the natural and legal descent of Joseph Bonaparte, and Louis Bonaparte."

From the Boston Repository.

By the arrival of the Montezuma, capt.
Isaacs, in 32 days from land, England, we have received London papers to 2d June, and have seen letters to the 5th. The papers are generally filled with Parliamentary debates too long for our columns, or squibs and witticisms on the new-fangled Royalty and Nobility of France, not particularly interesting. We have remarked another form of Constitution for the new order of things, drawn up by the Conservative Senate; how many this makes since the destruction of the ancient government of France, we pretend not to calculate.— It shall be presented to our readers in our next.

We observe that the opposition are now calling as loudly upon Pitt for some efficient measures in prosecuting the war, as he did upon his predecessor. We understand, however, by an English gentleman, crease in numbers; nor is it considered so formidable as was first apprehended; that the Parliament has resumed the very important subject of abolishing slavery in the colonies. On this measure we have been favoured with the following

Extract; from a respectable source.

The change of Ministry has not yet produced any material one in our politics; nor is there the least appearance of any thing like a negotiation for peace taking place. The long agitated question for the abolition of the slave trade for our colonies has been carried in the affirmative in a certain degree; the partisans for the abolition having obtained a vote of the House of Commons to refer the consideration of the subject to a committee. It is even possible that the important question may be ultimately carried, and in such a case, it would impose a new face on the social constitution of the colonies. The events in St.
Domingo have no doubt had a considerable influence. It is a striking example, and may be of infinite use in the future government of the West-India islands.

London, June 3.

By Paris papers of the 20th ult. it appears that on the 18th, the Senatus Consultum respecting the Imperial dignity to be bestowed on Bonaparte was finally adopted, and presented to the First Consul by the senate in a body. This act contains 143 articles, and is in substance as follows:

Napoleon Bonaparte is declared Emperor of the French, and the Imperial dignity hereditary in the legitimate descent, from male to male, in the order of primogeniture, to the exclusion of females and their descent. The First Consul may adopt the children or the grand-children of his brothers, provided they have attained the age of 18 years complete, and he himself having no children. Adoption is prohibited to his successors. In default of a natural heir to the First Consul, or of an adopted heir, the empire will be transferred to Joseph Bonaparte and his descendants; and in default of Joseph and his descendants, to Louis and his descendants. In case of failure of the heirs of Joseph and Louis Bonaparte, a Senatus Consultum proposed to the Senate by the Titularies of the great Dignities of the Empire, and submitted to the people, shall appoint an Emperor. The members of the Imperial Family shall bear the title of French Princes. The eldest son of the Emperor shall bear the title of Imperial Prince. A French Prince who shall marry without permission from the Emperor, shall be deprived of all right to the inheritance, unless he shall have no children by his marriage, and it shall be afterwards dissolved.

The brothers of Bonaparte are to be created French princes. Imperial palaces are to be established in four principal points of the Empire. Females are in all cases excluded from the regency; and the reigning Emperor may previous to his death, appoint a regent from amongst the French princes, if his heir male is a minor.

The titularies of the great dignities of the Empire, are, the Great Elector, the Arch Chancellor of the Empire, the Arch Chancellor of State, the Arch Treasurer, the Constable, and the High Admiral. They shall be nominated by the Emperor, and they shall enjoy the same honors of the French Princes, and rank immediately after them; they shall be Senators and Councillors of State; they shall form the great Council of the Empire.

The other great officers are, one Marshal of the Empire, chosen from among the most distinguished generals, 28 inspectors and Colonels, general of Artillery, Cavalry, and the Marine; three great Civil Officers of the crown, such as shall be instituted by the statutes of the Emperor.
The laws are to be thus promulgated:

Napoleon by the grace of God and the Constitution of the republic, Emperor of the French, &c. &c.

The adoption of the Senatus Consultum has been announced by discharge of Artillery.

ADDRESS

Of the Conservative Senate to the FIRST CONSUL.

Citizen First Consul,

The conservative senate presents themselves in a body before you, to thank you for the communication that you ordered to be laid before them on the 2d of this month, by the grand judges comprising original authentic documents relating to the atrocities directed against us under the shelter of the diplomatic character, by the envoy of the king of England, residing at the court of Munich. In examining these pieces and the report of the grand judge, the senate has been in this case supplying for the ma-ment the functions of a great national tribunal. A commission of five members framed a report, which the senate approved, and now present to you. The publicity of this report must depend upon the wisdom of the government. Our deliberations are, in an essential degree, necessarily secret; and, in matters of high policy, it is our maxim to let nothing transpire but what the government may think proper to communicate to Europe. We talk to Europe, because the investigation of this proceeding is not merely confined to France, it is the case of the world.

Nevertheless, inasmuch as it regards France, these circumstances have contributed to cast light upon two important objects. Providence has preserved a hero, necessary to her pure designs, and in your ruin France is involved. The English and the emigrants know, that your destiny is interwoven with that of the French people.
If their execrable projects had been fulfilled, a dreadful vengeance would have been the result. Heaven will preserve the land from the dire necessity of punishing a crime, that, in its consequence, might overthrow the world. Yet this crime has been attempted, and may be repeated; we speak of vengeance, and our laws are not equal to the exigency.

Yes, Citizen First Consul, the senate should in duty tell you, that in re-organizing our social system, your superior genius neglected provisions that do honor to the generosity of your character, but which augment perhaps your dangers and our fears. All our constitutions, excepting that of the year 8, had organized a high court, or national jury. You thought that a similar tribunal would not be necessary; and posterity, who will regard you for all that you have done, will count likewise upon that which you was not willing to for-see.

But citizen first consul there is a debt you owe your country. You are not at liberty to neglect your existence; and the senate, who in essence, are the conservators of the social compact of thirty millions of men, demand on their part, that the laws be expounded upon the first object of that conservation.

Citizen first consul, a great national tribunal will insure on the one part, the responsibility of the public functionaries, and on the other, it will present to conspirators a ready tribunal, invested with the necessary powers to maintain the security and existence of a great people, attached to the safety and existence of their first magistrate.

But this national jury will not be sufficient now to insure your life, and the effect of your great work, if you do not combine other institutions in the system to survive you. You establish a new epoch; but you ought to eternalize it; splendor is not thing if it is ephemeral; we cannot doubt but this great idea has occupied your thoughts, for your creative genius embraces all things.

You are pressed by the time, by the events, by conspirators, by the ambitious.
You are pressed by the inquietude which agitates all Frenchmen. You may arrest time, controul events, curb the conspiring disarm the ambitious, and tranquillize France, in giving institutions which will cement the edifice of the state, and prolong those benefits for the children which you acquire for their fathers. Citizen first consul, be well assured that the senate addresses you here in the name of the citizens.
All admire and love you; but there are some who ponder with profound anxiety upon the probable fate of the vessel, the republic if they had the misfortune to lose their pilot, before it had been fixed upon immovable anchors. In the cities in the country, if you were to interrogate all Frenchmen, one after the other, there is not one who would not exclaim with us "Great man, finish your vast designs, and make your glory immortal; you have extricated us from the chaos of the past; you make us blest, in the enjoyment of existing blessings; guarantee them to us for the future!"

In all foreign courts, sound political ans exercise the same language. The Capture of the British Sloop of War Lilly.

Sunday morning last arrived here part of the crew of the British sloop of war Lilly, captured on the 15th inst. by the French privateer La Dame Ambert, capt. Charles Lemarque, who, the day before, captured the ship Mary, belonging to Liverpool, from Africa to Savannah, with a valuable cargo of slaves, ivory, &c. and a ship from Honduras to London, laden with mahogany. After taking out the most valuable part of the Mary's cargo, they gave the crew a "deed of gift" of her, and put the Lilly's and the other ship's men on board.
They detained Mr. Ashton, captain of the Mary, on board the privateer, and purpose carrying him to Guadeloupe as an evidence for her condemnation.
The following account of the capture of the English Sloop of War Lilly, has been given us by Mr. Norcock, the purser:
"I beg leave to acquaint you of my arrival here this day with the remaining officers and crew of H. M. sloop of war Lilly.
On the 14th instant on or about the hour of 2 P. M. being then in latitude 33 21, N. and long. 79, 13, W. we observed two sail to windward, to which we immediately gave chase. At half past 3, perceived the one to be an armed vessel laying too with French colours flying, boarding a ship, which we supposed to be English, and continued in that position till dark, when we lost sight of them. Tacked occasionally, working to windward during the night; at half past 8 A. M. observed two sail to the westward, which we supposed to be the same as yesterday; made all sail in chase, and cleared ship for action. At 9 distinguished them to be the two ships we saw yesterday, the one having the other in tow, standing to the S. E. on the starboard tack. Half past 9 the one hoisted English colours, which we returned; passed to windward; tacked on our weather beam, and cast the vessel she had taken in tow off three quarters past the edgway taking us for a merchant vessel, we shewed no guns, and having a temporary poop rigged to decoy her. At 23 minutes past 10 she ranged upon our weather quarter, shifted her colours to French, and commenced a heavy fire upon us which we immediately returned; she then dropped astern and kept up a heavy discharge of musquetry, musque-toons, cohorts from her tops and decks, and that of grape and langrage from her bow chasers which cut our braces, bowlines, and running rigging in such a manner as to render the ship totally unmanageable and completely defeated all our exertions to alter our position so as to get a gun to bear; and the only resistance we were able to make (having no stern chasers) was that of the small arms.
It is with the greatest concern I have to mention the death of capt. William Compton who fell early in the action. She still kept (taking every advantage of our ungovernable state) under our stern raking us fore and aft with her bow chase guns and one hundred men at musquetry, making sundry fruitless attempts to board till noon when she passed to windward, on which we gave her the whole of our larboard broad-side, and laying athwart-haube, raked us sundry times, which I am sorry to say deprived us of the assistance of the whole of the officers on deck; lieutenant Fowler being the last who fell, giving instructions to strike the colours; the ship then laying a perfect log on the water; standing, running, rigging and sails completely cut to pieces masts and yards severely wounded. In this state the enemy made another desperate attempt to board which they effected on the bowsprit with upwards of one hundred men and the feeble resistance we were then able to make, having then eighteen men out of our small number, being only seventy six at the commencement of the action, killed and wounded. It is with the utmost concern I have to add, we were compelled to strike our colours, and half past noon were taken possession of by the French privateer La Dame Ambert, of Guadeloupe, mounting fourteen twelve pounder carronades and two long 9's, and having on board one hundred and forty men. The Lilly mounted sixteen short twelve pounders merchant guns."

List of the killed and wounded.
KILLED.—Captain William Compton; Lieutenant Samuel Fowler.
Severely wounded.—Mr. Mich. Head master's mate; Schio Thompson, ditto of HMS Driver; John Bryant, boatswain;

Hammond, Robert Day, Wm. Wilson private marins.
Slightly wounded.—Robert Risker, Jas.
Allen Edward Warren, seamen, William Wade, private marine.
The gentleman who gave the above account says, that the crew of the privateer were mostly English, Scotch, Irish, and Americans, and that the captain was a Scotchman—thinks from the shattered condition of the Lilly, that she cannot be got into port. The privateer was formerly the British Packet Marlborough, lately captured by the French in the West-Indies.

At a meeting of sundry citizens of Fairfax County and others, held at West End, the 27th of July, 1804, for the purpose of adopting measures in order to obtain the establishment of a Branch of the Bank of Virginia, in the vicinity of the town of Alexandria, in the said County of Fair-

Gen. THOMPSON MASON, Chairman.
ROBERT MOSS, Secretary.
This meeting being fully impressed with the advantage resulting from the establishment of a branch of the bank of Virginia in this county, as well to the agricultural interest of the counties trading to the town of Alexandria as others.
Therefore Resolved, That Thompson Mason, Walter Jones, Francis Peyton, George Deneale, and Augustine J. Smith be appointed a Committee to draft a petition to the next General Assembly of Virginia, praying such an increase of the capital stock of the said Bank of Virginia (if necessary) as will enable the President and Directors of the said bank to establish a branch in the vicinity of the town of Alexandria in the County of Fairfax, and that a representation be drafted by said committee to be addressed to the President, Directors, and Stockholders of the said Bank to be presented at their general meeting at Richmond on the first Monday in September next, soliciting their concurrence and aid in the said application; and that the said petition and representation be submitted to another meeting to be held at Mrs. Simpson's tavern, West End, on Thursday next the 22d of August at 11 o'clock A. M. in order that the same may be adopted and forwarded to the different counties interested, for the signatures of those concurring in the propriety of the said application.
Resolved, That the foregoing proceedings be published in the Alexandria newspa-Supercargo, in Calcutta, to his father in Our passage across the Atlantic, Southern and Indian Oceans, was marked by no striking incident. We stopped at Joanna a few days for refreshment: the most remarkable circumstance, operating there on my mind, was the ancient Arabic Characters being well understood and written by the natives with equal dispatch, correctness and facility, and yet we are accustomed to consider all Manders as semi-barbarians. This island is, in truth, a most delightful spot, well cultivated, and I think exceeds in natural beauty, any one of the West India Islands.

We arrived in Ballasore Roads on the 20th of June, and in a few days anchored before this oriental emporium; this magnificent seat of British power, and the residence of the Governor General of the British settlements. Within a few miles of the city the river Hoogly, on the east side, is ornamented with edifices, all in the Grecian style of architecture, with splendid and spacious porticos, resembling at a distance, more the minor temples of Athens, in the age of Pericles, than the ordinary mansions of merchants, or private gentlemen, surrounded by grounds and gardens, laid out with great taste, and kept with the utmost neatness. These are resorted to in the dry season, which is from November to March—during the rains, when the country is too wet, the city is preferred as more healthy. The city cannot fail to astonish one from our country, where moderate circumstances, and a necessary simplicity of manners, chiefly prevail. Every thing here is upon a grand scale, the eye is lost, and the mind astonished in the contemplation of works of every kind, which with us are unknown.

Of the inhabitants, it may be presumed the shortness of my intended stay will not permit me to say much. The English, with whom we in New-England may glory in our common origin, are generally reputed frank, liberal and polite: Indeed I have heard so many instances of great generosity of character to the widow, the orphan, and distressed mind of every kind, that were I to go into detail, I should trespass much on the ordinary bounds of a letter.
The present noble Governor of India possesses in a high degree the confidence and esteem of his country; his mind is richly stored with literature and science, and fully equal to accomplish and consolidate all that she commits to him concerning power of police, war or peace.
Upon mature reflection, having conceived it more for the interest of my friends, to place my business in the hands of a merchant here of acknowledged respectability than to attempt doing it myself, or having it done gratis by R. I. have given my confidence to Mr. —R, is a black man here, who has generally had the goodness to attach himself to my countrymen on their first arrival, and address enough to persuade them that he sells their consignments, and buys their return cargo for nothing; by this singular generosity he has it is said, acquired within the last six years, a fortune of near a million of dollars.
The thing is very well understood here, a cargo is wanted for a particular ship and the goods procured from the British merchants; a surcharge is made upon the bona fide price for his benefit and incorporated without our perceiving it in his invoice.— This bad management exposes our mercantile judgment to some sneering and is certainly productive of great disadvantage.— The history of our trade for some years back is simply this: at first we brought out large credits upon houses here, but without any consignment of ship or cargo, the consequence of this arrangement was, that our credits were not answered, and thus to save a paltry commission upon return cargoes, we were thrown out of a regular supply of goods from respectable agents here, and forced to take up with articles the refuse of the market at exorbitant prices, and to pay a ruinous exchange on our bills or to return with our ships half loaded. For these three last years we have brought specie, and this properly applied, ought to have ensured us the choice of all the goods at market; but here again a narrow policy, I am afraid, deprived us of this advantage.
My mercantile precursors generally got into the hands of the disinterested native I have already mentioned, and the cautious reserve they are said to have preserved with the English merchants established here, tended to confirm his influence. In short, it is a matter of surprise how we are able to carry the trade on without loss and it is supposed when a permanent peace takes place, that we shall be thrown out of every market. British freights from India will be less than ours, and their investments superior in quality and laid in at a lower price. Our impolicy is exemplified in the facts that very little British capital is engaged in our India trade, whereas I think a more liberal policy in our intercourse for the last seven years, would have been productive of mutual benefit, and probably a very considerable part of the surplus capital of the British merchants in India, would have been embarked in the support of our trade.
You will excuse my troubling you with these remarks, but I write with the intention to render a service to our numerous connections. I think it would be our interest to pay liberally for the experience of the British merchants established here, and employ them to lay in our homeward cargoes, for if we do not do this we shall soon be obliged to abandon the trade altogether.

Prince, and a French gentleman, with dispatches ingo, to M. Pichon, came passengers in the Louisa,

We are indebted to the politeness of a file of Irish newspapers to the received last night by the brig Georg in 43 days from Cork. The late when the papers were received rendered to present our readers with an day, and admits of but a flight g contents.
The New Administration have their career in a manner which justify opinion formed of them. Already have th planned several important expeditions; one which is destined for the Cape of Good Ho and Batavia, and is entrusted to Gen. Sir Alor Clark. The arrangements to equip a competen army for these objects are going on with energy and rapidly. Copious extracts tomorrow.
We understand the ship True American, capt.
Tubner, arrived last night from Gibraltar, has dispatches on board from Commodore Preble, for our government. M. Y. Pap.
Truth & Taste.
TRUTH is disputable, not taste: what exists in the nature of things is the standard of our judgment; what each man feels within himself is the standard of sentiment.
Propositions in geometry may be proved; systems in physic may be controverted; but the harmony of verse, the tenderness of passion, the brilliancy of wit, must give immediate pleasure. No man reasons concerning another man's beauty; but frequen-ly the justice or injustice of his actions.
In every criminal trial, the first object of the prisoner is to disprove the facts alleged; the second to prove that, even if these actions were real, they ought to be justified. It is confessedly by deductions of the understanding, that the first point is ascertained: how can we suppose that a different faculty of the mind is employed in fixing the other.
* In modern times, if we are prosecuted for a libel, we are not permitted to give the truth in evidence.

in Chester county, Mrs. MARY M'CLEAN in the 38th year of her age, the amiable comfort of Mr.
Archibald M'CLean, late principal of an Academy in Alexandria, Virginia. Mrs. M'CLean was the sensible companion, the dutiful daughter, the affectionate parent, the valuable wife, and the sincere Christian, being an early professor of religion in the Baptist Church, in the full communion of which she died. Her remains were interred on Lord's day last, attended by a numerous concourse of sympathizing friends; on which melancholy occasion, a funeral discourse was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Rutter, of Blockley, from Amos iv. 12.—"Prepare to meet thy God, 15,000 tickets at 10 dollars each, 150,000 N. B. Prizes subjected to a deduction of fifteen per cent.

This Lottery has been authorized by the Legislature of Virginia, for the laudable purpose of erecting a seminary of learning in or near the metropolis of this State. With this view it is contemplated to raise 20,000 dollars, and 2,500 dollars in addition, for defraying the expenses attendant on drawing the lottery. Citizens of the first respectability have been selected as trustees, and they have pledged themselves to use their utmost exertions to carry it into effect. The scheme has the advantage of giving to each each adventurer a chance for some very large prizes, whilst the proportion of prizes to blanks, is so great as to invite the friends of the intended institution to partake in the lottery, with very little risk of their becoming losers. The treasurer of this State is to be appointed to receive the money for the tickets as they are sold, and to pay the amount of the prizes to fortunate adventurers. It is believed that the above considerations will induce a rapid sale of the tickets, and the drawing will commence as soon as a sufficient number shall be sold to authorize it—which it is believed will be on the second Monday in December next.

Richmond, Jan. 31, 1804.

TRAVELS IN GREECE.

PROPOSALS.

FOR PUBLISHING BY SUBSCRIPTION,

THE TRAVELS OF Anacharsis the Younger,
IN GREECE:

During the middle of the fourth Century, before the Christian Era, With copious Notes and References.

BY THE ABBE BARTHELEMY,
Keeper of the Medals in the Cabinet of the King of France, and Member of the Royal Academy of Inscriptions and Belles Lettres.

Translated from the French.

First American, from the fourth London edition.

IN FOUR VOLUMES.

THE work now offered to the American reader exhibits a complete view of the antiquities, manners, customs, religious ceremonies, laws, arts, and literature of ancient Greece; at the period of its greatest splendour. A knowledge of these has hitherto been only attainable by a laborious perusal of writers who have been little solicitous to join entertainment with instruction. The Travels of Anacharsis, on the contrary, are so written, that the reader may frequently be induced to imagine he is perusing a work of mere amusement; invention, and fancy; till his eye glances to the bottom of the page, when he perceives there is scarcely a sentence, and not a single fact or circumstance, but is supported by the authority of some ancient author. The amazing number of these quotations may, perhaps at first sight, seem to have been unnecessary, and to have more the appearance of a parade of erudition, than to be of any real utility; but it is to be remembered that, at the same time that they must be highly acceptable to the man of real learning, by enabling him to refer immediately to the original author, they are extremely useful, nay, we may say, absolutely necessary, even to such readers as can never be supposed to have any intention to consult the authorities quoted; as they clearly shew that such an idea, or such a circumstance, is not merely a decoration, or the offspring of the fancy of the author, but immediately taken from some ancient writer, and therefore perfectly accordant to the general scope and plan of the work.

TERMS.

I. The first Edition in America of Anacharsis Travels, will be comprised in four Vols, octavo.
II. It shall be printed on handsome wove paper and a new type casting for the purpose. Each Volume will contain about 400 pages.
III. The price to Subscribers, per Vol. bound and lettered, will be 2 dollars; in boards, 1 dollar and 75 cents, to be paid on the delivery of each Volume.
The European Edition sells at 12 dollars per set.
IV. There shall be a handsome Map of Greece given with the first Volume, to be executed by one of the best Engravers.
V. Those who obtain ten Subscribers and become responsible for the payment of the same shall receive one copy gratis. The work is now at Press, and shall be finished with all possible dispatch.

Subscriptions to the above work received at Robert & John Gray's book Store, Alexandria.
